GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, JUNE 16, 1927

NUMBER 24

Grayling Will Celebrate Monday, July 4th!

GRAYLING ADOPTS EASTERN TIME

TURN CLOCKS AHEAD 1 HOUR

At a special meeting held last Monday night, the village council duly adopted Eastern Standard (daylight savings) time, to begin next Sunday, and ask the people to turn their clocks ahead one hour next Saturday night. This was done in accordance with a petition signed by most of the Grayling business men, and many others.

This change will place Grayling in accord with nearly every city and town in Michigan and eliminate considerable confusion. All the towns and cities in this part of Michigan have for several seasons been running on fast time, besides the National Guard camp is operated on fast time and there has been much inconvenience to many, due to our being on slow time. It is believed by members of the council that the change will meet with general approval.

There was some opposition to the change on the part of some of our people, especially some of the employees at the flooring factory, where there was a majority against making the change. We understand that the employees at the Box factory were unanimously in favor of the change.

The petition that was presented to the council asked that the new regulation be continued up to October 1st of this year, at which time the present system be resumed.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES FROM FALL

Without regaining consciousness after falling down the stairs of Sangster and Riggs Drug Store late Friday afternoon, Adolph J. Bruder, 42 years old, Michigan Central switchman, died last evening in the Cheboygan hospital, with a fractured skull.

The victim had entered the Sangster and Riggs store and sought a rest room. He was directed down the stairs and in a few moments a dull thud attracted the attention of the clerks. Investigation showed that Bruder had fallen down the stairs and apparently struck on his head. Physicians were immediately called and the victim was rushed to the hospital but surgical examinations disclosed the fact that his skull had been badly fractured and that recovery was improbable.

Bruder remained unconscious until about six o'clock when he died. In March he had undergone an operation and the effects of this were still bothering him, according to relatives and it is believed while attempting to go down the stairs he became faint and fell.

He was born in Rogers City in 1885. He has resided in Cheboygan for many years.

He is survived by his wife and six children, also his aged mother, and four brothers, Oswald, Rheinart, Albert and Edward, all of Rogers City and three sisters, Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, Cheboygan; Mrs. Wm. H. Gross of Rogers City and Mrs. James Wood of Chicago.

The funeral has been announced for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at St. Thomas Lutheran church, Cheboygan Tribune.

Mr. Bruder and his family were well known in Grayling, he having worked on a switch engine in the Grayling M. C. yards for a number of years and resided on Villa street, having owned the property which he recently sold to Herman Dohm.

Mrs. Bruder and family have the sympathy of many Grayling friends in their sorrow.

Every time is train time at a railroad crossing.

STATE GUARDSMEN TAKE TO AIR

GRAYLING CAMP IN AUGUST TO MARK FIRST ACTUAL SERVICE

By John Tobin Nevill

The roar of airplanes preparing to "take off," the drone of engines high in the air, the sight of plane formations "maneuvering" gracefully over marching regiments, the steep dives, the dropping of bombs, and the quick "zoom" to escape imaginary anti-aircraft fire, will, for the first time in Michigan National Guard history, play a part in the annual encampment when the bugle sounds at Grayling early in August.

Eagerly awaiting the word from Major General Guy M. Wilson, commanding officer of the thirty-second division, calling them to camp, officers and men of the One Hundred and Seventh Observation squadron, the first and only air unit in the division, are preparing daily at their air field in River Rouge park.

With the opening of the regular summer training camp less than two months distant, the "props" of the four JN training planes now being used by the squadron, are churning the air in the area surrounding their field adjoining Plymouth road. Squadron officers are putting in their flying time and the men are putting in their hours in the air, "limbering up" for the two weeks grueling at Grayling.

Several of the squadron's officers are men who received their "baptism of fire" thousands of feet over the dangerous sectors of France during the World war, and they need but "The Message of the Winds." At 7:30 p. m. he will speak on the subject, "Feel of the Air." Others are officers of the Army Air Service Reserve, and have kept up their flying at Selfridge and other army air fields, and still others are professional pilots, skilled air men, who make their living by flying.

All Ready

Michelson Memorial Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister

Sunday, June 19th

At this time of the year, Nature is vocal. We want to hear the accents of her voice. We need to listen for her messages. So at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, June 19th, the pastor will bring a message on the theme "The Message of the Winds." At 7:30 p. m. he will speak on the subject, "Songs in the Night." You will enjoy both of these services, and we will enjoy seeing you there. Don't forget the Study Group for Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. (June 16th). The class this week will be held on Wednesday, so as not to conflict with the class exercises of the graduating class. The discussion on Wednesday will be on the chapter entitled, "Confession and Forgiveness." What do you think of a voluntary confession in the Protestant church? Does repeating the Creed, "I believe in the forgiveness of sins," mean for us, "I believe that my own sins are forgiven," and also, "I believe in forgiving sins in others." By being un-forgiving, do we not limit God's forgiveness?

A Thought for the Week

Wherein lies the secret of giving the day the big place in life which it ought to have? Do we need more display or more characters like that of Lincoln and Washington and Wilson? Do we respect the will of the majority, and is the Constitution (all of it) sacred to us, even if we did not vote with the majority?

"Wanted: Men! Not pious, but with mystic ties, Not platforms framed of clever lies; Not politicians snug and bland; Not candidates with eager hand; But men, strong, patriotic men, To serve the people of the land With vision clear and hearts sincere, To quit themselves like men!"

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Only One Appeal A Year

The Salvation Army are about to conduct a campaign to raise funds to carry on their state social and service work throughout Michigan.

The lacking and reputation that the Salvation Army won for itself during the recent World war, is evidence enough of the good work that they do. They are at this time, giving their special aid and attention to the many "floor" sufferers, and the East Michigan division, with headquarters at 564 Michigan Ave., Detroit, have alone given $10,595 to flood sufferers, and they are still giving.

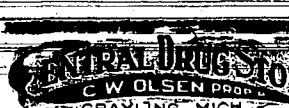

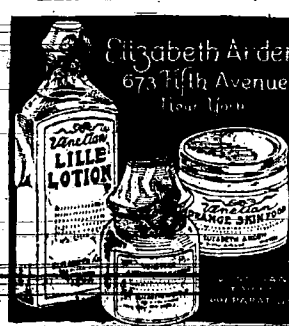

This work is being carried on by advisory boards throughout the different states in the Union, and one appeal a year is made to the people to aid them in their good work.

When Mr. A. E. Hamilton, state representative of the East Michigan division calls on you for your support, your donations will be greatly appreciated.

Further particulars about this matter can be obtained from the local chairman of this institution at Grayling, Rev. J. W. Greenwood.

The bearer, Mr. A. E. Hamilton, representing the state headquarters of the Salvation Army, has the endorsement of the Grayling Board of Trade in their work and the manner of securing funds which subscriptions are to be paid to the Grayling bank, who will forward funds direct to Salvation Army headquarters at Detroit, it being understood that there will be but one appeal a year.

Yours truly,
W. W. Lewis, President, Grayling Board of Trade.

SELWOOD OF SLEEPY CAT

by FRANK H. SPEARMAN

COPYRIGHT BY CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS
W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—At Sleepy Cat Doctor Carpy tells Wentworth, freighting boss of a shooting scrape in Bartow's gambler, in defense of his wounded partner, Dave Tracy, shows remarkable skill and nerve.

CHAPTER II—A year afterwards, Selwood, now Wentworth's representative at Sleepy Cat, driving his buckboard wagon, comes upon a man whose wagon has been left in a creek. He helps get the outfit clear, after picking up a girl who had been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER III—McAlpin, himself powerful, hiring Selwood of the town, Selwood and Tracy return to the money.

CHAPTER IV—Starbuck, head of the crooked gamblers, rebuffed by Selwood and Tracy, sends them to a place where they can get a good deal of money. Selwood, however, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER V—Selwood makes his acquaintance with Tracy, who is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER VI—Fyler is beaten and robbed. Selwood and Tracy, who are gamblers, are not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER VII—Christie warns Selwood of threats made by Starbuck. Selwood, however, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER VIII—Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER IX—Following a power game, Selwood and Tracy, who are gamblers, are not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER X—Carpy warns Selwood of threats made by Starbuck. Selwood, however, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XI—Selwood drugs Tracy and, with Paradox and Scott, kills him. Selwood, however, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XII—Selwood makes his way by stealth into Bartow's territory, where he is seen by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XIII—Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XIV—In the room Selwood finds Christie, her father, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XV—The Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XVI— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XVII— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XVIII— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XIX— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XX— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XXI— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XXII— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XXIII— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

CHAPTER XXIV— Selwood is a gambler, and Selwood, who is a Crook, is not interested in the money, but in the girl who has been seen in the past by the supposed owner, though in the town of the setting, Selwood is a Crook.

Carpy opened the waiting-room door to look for his man and paused. At the far end of the room, sitting on an up-ended keg, his back supported against the wall, Carpy saw one of his much-battered Vigilantes. Bending over him with a cup of water from the fountain, Selwood, a man of advanced years, whose dark, sunken eyes identified him as one of that small but widely scattered band of men known to the Indians of every tribe of the West, from the Staked Plain to Hudson Bay, as black robes.

"Fyler," said the surgeon, coming up with blunt gallantry, "I'm glad to see you making yourself useful. If you want a job nursing, I'll hire you right now. I'm accepting this outfit."

When the black robe smiled, Selwood lost their stern purpose. "It would not be new work," he replied in a heavy foreign accent, "but I'm sorry to see such warfare, such bloodshed, and what about?"

"Ladies," said this Sleepy Cat, "I'm glad to see you making yourself useful. If you want a job nursing, I'll hire you right now. I'm accepting this outfit."

Carpy laughed and shook his head. "I'm glad to see you making yourself useful. If you want a job nursing, I'll hire you right now. I'm accepting this outfit."

Michigan Happenings

Edward Cahill, 64 years old, a bachelor farmer residing on the West Michigan Pike, 10 miles from Scottville, is said to be the only able-bodied man in the county who has never attended a motion picture theatre. Only once has it been possible to coax him into an automobile. Further, Mr. Cahill says he has no desire to see a "movie" or go motoring. Mr. Cahill has lived on the same farm for 49 years, and has made less than a dozen trips to Manistee or Scottville. "Automobiles go too fast," he says. "I would rather walk."

The Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, has brought suit in circuit court at Marshall against George B. Kerman, of Wheeling, W. Va., now at Battle Creek sanitarium, to recover three policies. It is claimed three policies, totalling $20,000, and made payable to Kerman's wife were issued Kerman last year, upon the claim that he was in good health. The charge is made that Kerman misrepresented the facts and that he was suffering from ulcers of the stomach. The premiums paid in have been turned over to the county clerk.

University Hall at Ann Arbor has been declared a fire hazard by State Fire Marshal Charles V. Lane, following an inspection of the building. The fire marshal recommended that use of the theatre and balcony of the building be discontinued for plays or entertainments of any kind, as the construction and age in itself which would endanger life even though proper escapes and exits were installed. All offices and class rooms should be provided with exterior exits or approved fire escapes.

Mrs. Louise Wheaton, 104-year-old Indian, resident of Saginaw county, who was born in Taymouth township in the southern part of Saginaw county, is dead at her farm home. Mrs. Wheaton was one of the few survivors of the Indian race in this county. She was born in 1832, and is survived by a son and daughter and 26 grandchildren. Mrs. Wheaton was a picturesque figure, despite her advanced age, and had a remarkably wide acquaintance. She was active until a short time before her death.

The state administrative board has taken steps to keep the state on a sound business basis when it decided unanimously to inaugurate an annual audit of all departments. The audit would be similar to the one just completed, which showed a deficit of more than $5,000,000. Purpose of the action was to provide the state with a definite means of ascertaining its financial condition at the end of each year. A tax was levied. At present there is no such means.

A series of fires in Western Michigan recently caused an aggregate loss of nearly $150,000. The Lake County Court House, at Baldwin, a landmark here for many years, was destroyed. The damage was more than $50,000. The Christian Reformed Church, at Borealis, in Ottawa County, was also destroyed, as were two barns nearby. The loss was placed at $20,000. A loss of $75,000 resulted when fire destroyed the Big Rapids Furniture Manufacturing Co. plant.

Permission to erect a $100,000 commercial dock 1000 feet long and 185 feet wide, in Muskegon Lake, has been granted to Love Construction company by the war department. It will be the only dock in Muskegon harbor to which deep draft boats can tie up, and is expected to effect a saving of several hundred thousand dollars each year in freight rates. A $20,000 warehouse will be constructed this summer.

The International Labor Defense of Chicago has threatened to sue Berrien County to recover $1,000 paid by that organization for bail for the late C. E. Ruthenberg. Ruthenberg, who died several weeks ago, was one of the prominent "reds" taken in a raid at Bridgman, near Benton Harbor, in 1933. He was tried in Berrien County. County officials say the suit will be contested.

One of the best landing fields in Northern Michigan has been completed near Benish, by the Twin-Village Commercial club. The field is on a farm two miles east of Crystal Lake and is well sited. It is 2,000 feet square and is equipped with markers and wind indicators. All fliers may use it.

Edward Reau, 45, of Marquette, was killed when he attempted to drive his new automobile for the first time alone. He lost control of the machine as he backed out of the garage, and it plunged down a 75-foot embankment at the rear of his home.

Three Chicago men have applied to the public utilities commission for permission to incorporate the gas corporation of Michigan with headquarters at Ludington. Purpose of the corporation is to take over the properties of the Ludington Gas company, the Michigan Gas company, at Greenville, and the Central Gas company, at Mt. Pleasant. Permission was requested to issue $500,000 first mortgage bonds and $300,000 of common stock in $5.00 shares.

It is said that most of the popular songs about my dear old home in Dixie are written by jazz young gentlemen in New York who have never been south of Coney Island.

So confident was young Lindbergh that he bought his return ticket from Europe before he left New York and took it with him. How could you stop a guy like that?

A cheap tube can cost you 10 times its price.....

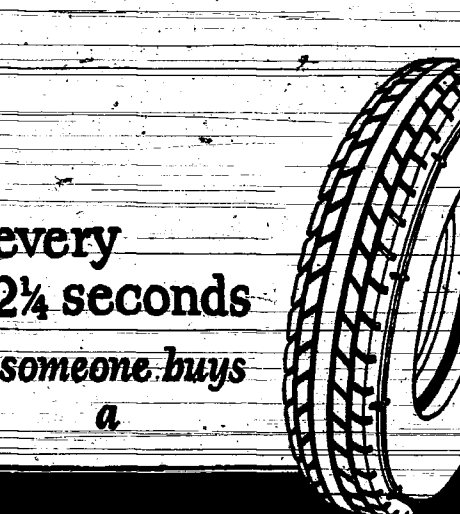

THIRTY-NINE YEARS of tube-building experience has proved to Dunlop that "cheap tubes" do not pay.

That is why Dunlop tubes are made casing shaped. It costs a little more than to build them on a straight pole, as cheap tubes are built.

But a casing-shaped Dunlop tube is strong everywhere. The outside edge is not weakened by excess stretch. The side next to the rim has no wrinkles to crack with age and blow out. A Dunlop tube protects your casing, because it fits. And your casing is worth ten times the cost of the tube.

We strongly recommend a Dunlop tube for every casing

The public is invited to attend these gatherings.

There was a good turnout of Rebekahs and Oddfellows in attendance at the annual Memorial exercises Sunday. The members assembled at the Michigan Memorial church at the regular Sunday morning service when Rev. J. W. Greenwood delivered a fine sermon. Following the services, led by the Grayling band, the Orders marched to the cemeteries where they held their ritualistic services and decorated the graves of deceased members with flowers.

Quite a number of local and outside people have been enjoying the golf links this week and all speak highly of the course. This place appears to be coming into a lot of favor of late. It takes a long time to produce a good golf course and considering that this one is only two years old, it certainly has done well. Each year it will be certain to become better and the splendid layout of the grounds is bound to make it one of the most popular courses in northern Michigan.

The highways and byways of Michigan are alive today with members of the Michigan Press association on their way to Houghton Lake to enjoy three days of vacation together. These are the times when the editors and their wives forget their labors and go in for real play. Every section of the state will be represented at the outing, even from the remote counties of the Upper Peninsula. The organization is about fifty years old and is in a flourishing condition. The beauties and pleasures of Houghton Lake region and the surrounding area, where there are many similar places, are due for some healthy, free advertising among the newspapers of Michigan during the next few weeks. With a daughter graduating this week, we are obliged to wait until Friday before joining the pencil pushers, but we'll be there tomorrow sure.

A petition is being circulated, asking the State Department of Conservation to place a ban on the shooting of spike-horned deer. It is claimed that the single spike-horned deer is not sufficient to distinguish it from a doe deer and at times the latter are shot by hunters thinking that they are able to distinguish "spikes." If such regulation is passed, then only buck deer with antlers may be killed, which would mean the extermination of the deer.

Crawford County Grange No. 934, at their first meeting of the season recently at the American Legion hall had a good attendance and an enjoyable time was had visiting. Although there are but a few active members, it was decided to hold the organization going and to hold their annual Memorial exercises on Saturday, June 18. We invite all members to be present whether or not you are in good standing at these exercises, and it would be appreciated if you would bring some potted plants or flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff McKinnon and daughter Elizabeth of Gaylord visited at the Michael Sheehy home Sunday.

The class of 1927 of Grayling High School attended Michigan Memorial church in a body Sunday night to listen to the baccalaureate sermon by Rev. J. W. Greenwood, pastor of the church. The twenty-five members of the class were accompanied by the high school faculty and teachers of the grades, besides there was an excellent attendance of towns people. Every seat in the large church, including the large side room, balcony and reception room, were occupied. A special quartette, composed of Mrs. Clippert, Mrs. Jarvin, Harold Jarvin and J. Fred Alexander, lead in the singing and also rendered a special number. Rev. Greenwood gave one of the best and most inspiring baccalaureate addresses we have ever listened to. He complimented the class upon their completion of their high school work and gave the young ladies and young men some excellent counsel that should be of much value to them in their future lives. The class is fortunate in being able to carry away with them many sensible and beautiful thoughts as one of the losing features of their high school lives.

tain Charles A. Lindbergh, of the Missouri National Guard squadron, in flying from New York to Paris in a non-stop flight, has done more to stimulate interest in aviation and awaken the nation to its vast possibilities than any other man in the world. Several battalions of guardsmen say that any event since the first airplane was flown in 1903. The youth of the nation, particularly the boys, have been aroused and are flocking to aviation schools and to the flying field in the country, with fast increasing interest, eagerly wanting to know how, when and where it can be taught safely.

Through the One Hundred and Sixty Observation Squadron, young men can receive the preliminary training that will fit them for an appointment to the government's flying school in Texas. The regular army air service appropriation permits every National Guard squadron to send a given number of its enlisted men to the government school every six months. The Detroit squadron has several men already scheduled to the school in the next regular class in September, and expects to add more to this list before that time.

Major Evans in Command. With Captain Lindbergh, now a famous flight commander of the One Hundred and Sixty Observation Squadron, Missouri National Guard, and a pilot of the "Cross" in mind, Detroit is fortunate in having in its own National Guard squadron, personnel of splendid character, and its roster embraces names of several men known in aviation circles. Captain Carl B. Squier, operations officer of the squadron, is a skilled pilot, and most of its officers are experienced aviators. During the war, the squadron was sent to the front lines, and the first ing officer of the squadron, entered the officers' training school at Fort Sheridan, Ill., May 13, 1917. When the government asked for volunteers to day aviation, Evans went to the University of Illinois ground school, later becoming a flying cadet at Dayton, Ohio.

He sailed for overseas as a cadet in November, 1917. Several months later he was commissioned a lieutenant and placed in command of the Eighteenth Observation Squadron, operating with the Third Army Corps. In this capacity, he saw action at six major allied offensives, including the Oise, Aisne-Marne, Meuse-Argonne and Chateau Thierry fronts.

While at Chateau Thierry, July 18, 1918, Major Evans, then a lieutenant, and Sergeant Harold Merrill, his observer, were in command of the squadron. They were flying a French observation plane, for an in-flight patrol over the German lines. About nine miles over enemy territory, the plane was fired upon by a machine gun. The plane was hit and the major's right leg. It so happened that several days before, because of his short stature, Major Evans had placed straps in the rudder which he attached to his feet to enable him to steer the ship with ease. Despite the fact his wounded leg was a handicap, he managed to bring the plane back over the American lines, where he brought it down and the observer down safely. Evans was sent to the American base hospital at Vitry, and for his coolness, Missouri National Guard, and a pilot of the "Cross" in mind, Detroit is fortunate in having in its own National Guard squadron, personnel of splendid character, and its roster embraces names of several men known in aviation circles.

Captain Carl B. Squier, operations officer of the squadron, is a skilled pilot, and most of its officers are experienced aviators. During the war, the squadron was sent to the front lines, and the first Officers' Training Camp at Camp Custer, being commissioned a lieutenant in the Field Artillery in December, 1917. Shortly afterward, Captain Squier was transferred to the Air Corps and sent to San Diego, California. Later he was sent overseas and served for many months with the Ninetieth Aero Squadron, during which he saw much service over the German lines. As a first lieutenant, he later became a test pilot at the American army's aviation base at Colombey La Belle, France. Following the peace conference following the close of the war, Captain Squier was attached to an aviation unit in Paris, carrying important documents over the country. Returning home in December, 1919, he engaged in commercial flying for two years, since which he has not flown professionally. Captain Squier holds that rank in the Army Air Service Reserve.

Round the World Flyer
Captain Frederick R. Anderson, listed in the Canadian Infantry, November 18, 1914, as a private, and transferred to the Royal Air Force in July, 1916. During almost two years in the war-torn sectors of France, Captain Anderson figured in many thrilling escapades, and for his conduct was decorated with the Canadian M. C. M.

Like Captain Anderson, Lieutenant Clement W. Brown served for more than a year in the Canadian Royal Air Force during the war. After the Armistice he became a lieutenant in the United States Air Service Reserve. Despite his youth, Lieutenant Brown is a veteran pilot, and regarded as one of the best in the state. He has more than 2000 hours flying time to his credit, and is an experienced pilot of more than 25 types of military and commercial planes. In civilian life, Brown is a pilot for the Stout Air Services, Inc.

The second of Lieutenant Henry H. Ogden, famous round-the-world flyer, is well known wherever airplanes are discussed. Lieutenant Ogden was one of the six American aviators who flew around the world in 1924 in 71 days. With Lieutenant Leigh Wade, his mate, he was forced down in the North Sea because of a defective oil line. After drifting for several hours, the plane was picked up by a fishing schooner and towed for 14 hours until the fliers were taken aboard the U. S. S. Richmond. Lieutenant Ogden is now on permanent duty with the One Hundred and Sixty Observation Squadron as engineering officer.

Lieutenant Howard L. Embor served in the Signal Corps during the World War, and took his aviation ground school work at Cornell. Following his graduation from the flying cadet school he was placed on active duty with the First Pursuit Group at Selfridge Field.

Congressional Medal of Honor
Among the enlisted men is Sergeant Albert J. Smith, who wears the congressional medal of honor for valor in rescuing two comrades from a burning plane in Pensacola, Fla., February 11, 1921. Sergeant Smith, then a private in the Marine Corps, was walking his post near the water front when he observed a large flying boat, with two men aboard, take the air. Knowing something was amiss in the aircraft, Smith watched it carefully. After several minutes several buildings in the city over which it had headed, the large craft was forced into a steep bank and a sharp turn, and tumbled one of its wings on a trolley wire. It then crashed into the street in flames. Smith rushed to the burning plane in an effort to drag the occupants from the smoldering wreckage, but the heat sent him back. Drawing his coat closely about him, Smith went in after the plane's occupants this time he went backwards. Although he burned himself about the face and arms, Smith succeeded in rolling the unconscious men from the fire. One of the victims died several weeks later. The other, so far, is known to be still alive. For his act Smith was presented with the medal of honor by the navy department.

Captain Joseph A. Nowicki, Lieutenants Frank P. O'Neill, James G. Kalec and Edgar T. Selszer complete the squadron's roster of commissioned officers. Captain Nowicki commands the squadron's medical detachment, Lieutenant Kalec is in charge of the photographic section, Lieutenant O'Neill is squadron adjutant and Lieutenant Selszer is a member of the regular Army Air Service, assigned to the One Hundred and Seventy Observation Squadron as an instructor—Detroit Free Press.

Meeting called for the purpose of canvassing the votes of the special election held Monday, June 6th, 1927.

Certificate of Determination

County of Crawford

The Common Council of the Village of Grayling, as the Canvassing Board of the Village of Grayling, having ascertained the vote of the said village at the special election held Monday, the sixth day of June, 1927, on the following proposition:

To purchase the entire waterworks system of the Village of Grayling, consisting of all water mains, pipes, lines, hydrants, pumping station, two pumps, stationary boiler and a sufficient plot of land to permit the village to continue the pumping plant where it is now located and the erection of a tank if necessary, for the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00).

In pursuance thereof we further certify that we find the vote to be as follows:

The whole number of votes cast for and against the proposition was two hundred and thirty-five (235), of which number two hundred and six were marked "Yes" (206), and twenty-nine were marked "No" (29).

That the foregoing is a correct statement of the votes given in the said village of Grayling, on the proposition as designated herein.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and affixed the seal of the said village of Grayling this ninth day of June, 1927.

H. Petersen, President.

Emil Giegling, A. L. Roberts, T. P. Peterson, Thomas Cassidy, Common Council of the Village of Grayling.

Attest: ROY O. MILNES, Clerk.

Moved by Robert and supported by McCullough that the certificate of determination be accepted, approved and adopted. All members present voting yea. Motion carried.

Moved by T. Cassidy that the petition for Eastern Time be tabled until the next meeting. Yea and nay vote called. Yea: E. Giegling, A. L. Roberts, T. P. Peterson and Thomas Cassidy. Nay: G. W. McCullough. Motion carried.
